Year 7 have recently returned from their orientation camp, held at Camp Wombaroo on the 24 to 26 February. This camp has provided them an opportunity to develop peer relationships with those in their class groups and also the entire year group. It also provided an opportunity to set goals for the remainder of high school and beyond.

The students participated in a range of activities, including a high ropes course, flying fox and giant swing. Many students were faced with personal challenges in completing these activities and the support offered by peers helped them to achieve success.
All students and staff left camp exhausted after a very big three days of fun-filled activities and challenges.

The year 7 students should be congratulated for the support and encouragement they gave to their peers feeling nervous about an activity, and the positive way they represented the school.
